

Groovy, Baby

NEW YORK DESIGN WEEK MAY HAVE BEEN CANCELLED, BUT THESE TUBULAR RELEASES WERE ROLLED OUT ANYWAY

WORDS _Evan Pavka

Liberty

Atelier Alain Ellouz's latest addition to the Infinity lighting series is a playful trio dubbed Liberty. Each of the three NYCxDesign Award-winning pendants features a leather-wrapped steel suspension system and two bronze or brass rings that hold a serpentine alabaster diffuser.

atelier-alain-ellouz.com

Rose Sofa

Four plush cylinders comprise French-Italian designer Joris Poggioli's four-metre-long, limited-edition lounger. Shown here wrapped in ribbed tone-on-tone fabric, the design comes in a number of customizable sizes and materials. jorispoggioli.com

Ribbon Chair

Composed of layered bands of extruded aluminum, the Ribbon Chair by Los Angeles studio Laun is as flexible as it is charming. Offered in a range of custom powder-coated hues (such as the rosy shade shown) and sizes, the indoor-outdoor seat was conceived by designers Rachel Bullock and Molly Purnell with a matching stool that also doubles as a side table.

launlosangeles.com

Elio Lamps

For their first lighting collection, designers Utharaa Zacharias and Palaash Chaudhary of Soft-Geometry, based in San Jose, California, stacked a spherical diffuser atop a base of cast resin tubes to create a pair of luminaires that emit a gentle glow whether off or on. soft-geometry.com